Classics & STEM: A CAM Symposium

Please join us for our Fall meeting Sunday, October 16th as we explore the connections between the Classics and the sciences both ancient and modern, with an aim of providing useful ideas for your classroom! Speakers include Diane Anderson (UMASS Boston - Astronomy), Neel Smith (Holy Cross - Data Science in the Latin classroom), Aaron Seider (Holy Cross - The Universe and its Origins), and Anthony Tuck (UMASS Amherst - Technology in the Ancient World), and in the afternoon we'll have an active Latin reading of a STEM-related text. Cost is $32 ($22 for members) and includes lunch.

RSVP and send a check made out to CAM to Tamara Bauer, 51 Curtis Rd, Milton MA 02186. Questions or inquiries to CAM VP TJ Howell (magister.howell@gmail.com)

College of the Holy Cross, 10am - 3pm
Hogan Center Suite B

REGISTRATION

Registration for members of CAM: $22 (non-members: $32). The price includes a catered lunch. Up to ten content PDPs available upon request. We hope to see you there!
